U.N. Improves Fish-Breeding in Asia

One of the best ways of overcoming the general lack of protein in the diet of the people of the Far East is by increasing the production and consumption of fish. In Thailand, for example, an expert of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), is training and assisting local technicians to improve and develop their country's fish resources. This Japanese scene shows time-honored fish-breeding practices in Thailand pond by local fishermen.

Progress At Churchill

THERE ARE MANY CANADIANS who have great interest and faith in the future of that part of our country which lies close to the Arctic. The prospects for future developments there in mining, forestry, oil and agriculture are still great and there is no doubt but that it will contribute much to Canada's economy in the future. One of the greatest developments which have no far taken place in Canada's Northland is the operation of the Port of Churchill. Each year grain from the prairies is shipped overseas by this route and the facilities of this northern port are constantly being enlarged and improved.

Have Added To Safety

Radar, gyro compasses, new ice breakers and ice spotting patrols, operated by the R.C.A.F., have all added to the safety of the Hudson Bay route in recent years. In the last twenty years, insurance rates for ships travelling by way of Hudson Bay have decreased by 25 per cent. because of the improvement in safety factors made during that time. Last year, 7,500,000 bushels of grain were shipped by way of Churchill and it was estimated that another 2,500,000 bushels could have gone, had more ships been available. No doubt as facilities at the port improve and more safety is insured, the amount of grain shipped through the port will increase.

Open Longer This Season

The shipping season through the Port of Churchill commenced this year on the 23rd of July and was expected to extend to the 25th of October. While this is longer than the usual season, the period of less than three months compares unfavourably with the shipping season of seven and one half months which is the average for ports on the St. Lawrence route. However, in spite of the short season and other adverse conditions, the Port of Churchill has endured and progressed for many years. There are still those who question the value of this northern port but it would seem that it has already justified the faith of those Canadians who first advocated the establishment of an inland waterway by way of Hudson Bay.

Bob Moore Of Swift Current Heads Weekly Newspapermen

Fifty-year-old Bob Moore of the Swift Current Sun, has been a newspaperman for most of his 50 years. Recently the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' association announced his election as president of that association.

Moore's father bought controlling interest in the Sun in 1909—six years after it was founded. And young Bob soon began to immer his fingers with printer's ink. Since 1933 he has been a co-publisher of the 5,800 circulation Sun, with James Gresham and Mahlon Hutchinson. The paper makes the modest claim that "In Swift Current everything revolves around the Sun."

Moore was born in Manitou, Man., and moved west with his parents to Mooseomin, Sask., then to Swift Current. When he finished high school he worked for his father's paper as a reporter for two years, then became a journeyman printer, and went to Toronto to learn the linotype. For a while he worked on western Ontario papers, then returned to the west.

Mrs. Moore, the former Anne Redger, was accountant for the paper when she married Moore in 1930. They have one daughter, Sandra, 12. Moore was last year's president of the local Kiwanis club; is secretary-treasurer of the United church board of trustees; junior deacon, Swift Current Lodge, A.P. and A.M., immediate past first principal, Unity chapter, Royal Arch Masons; 18th degree member, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite.

Next year's convention will be held at Saskatoon in August.

Young Mother Killed In Freak Car Accident

PORTLAND, Idaho. — A young mother of three children was strangled by the front door of her automobile in a freak accident after she parked in a neighbor's driveway. The body of Mrs. Jeanne Schurz, 25, was found about three hours after the accident. Her head was inside the car, her neck caught between the door and the frame. The coroner said it happened like this:

Mrs. Schurz was to pick up three friends at a neighbor's house for a lodge meeting at 8 p.m. She apparently was late and the three women left without her.

She drove into the sloping driveway and got out. The car began to roll backward and she reached inside to put on the brakes. Before she could do so, the car rolled against a fencepost and jammed the door tight against her neck.

Funny and Otherwise

The tram had stopped, and refused to budge.

"I think we should get on better if we got off," said the passenger to his neighbor.

So they alighted and walked on. Two minutes later the tram passed them.

"Well," said the one who made the suggestion, "I thought we should get on better if we got off, but we should have been better off if we had stayed on."

An executive is a fellow who's always annoying the help with his bright ideas.

"Was my husband intoxicated when he arrived home last night, Jane?"

"I didn't notice anything, ma'am. Except that he asked for a mirror to see who he was."

Lady (to new chauffeur): "Clarence, I am not accustomed to calling my chauffeurs by their first names. What is your surname?"

Chauffeur: "Darling, madam."

Lady: "Drive on, Clarence."

One nice thing about having a large family—when you need to borrow something, just send the kids and you can cover the neighborhood in a hurry.

Some women don't park a car—they abandon it.

"Is your wife the one on the left of that horse-faced woman or the one on the right?"

"The one in the middle."

"I'm disappointed in Cedric. When we were at the cinema I told him he was not to attempt to kiss me and he didn't."

"That new maid of ours seems very nice and quiet."

"Yes, she's very quiet. She doesn't even disturb the dust in the room."

Master (during maths lesson): "Jones, give me three prime figures."

Jones: "That's easy, air. Betty Grable, Jane Russell, and the girl next door."

BRAN MUFFINS

Astonishingly delicate and light for a muffin of this type—sweetened, but not too much so to be good with a salad. Serve hot—they're truly good.

1 cup once-sifted pastry flour or ½ cup once-sifted all-purpose flour

3 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder ½ teaspoon salt

½ cup fine granulated sugar ½ cup natural bran

1 egg, well beaten ½ cup milk

5 teaspoons vanilla 5 tablespoons butter or Blue Bonnet Margarine, melted

Grease ten 2½-inch muffin pans. Preheat oven to 400 deg. F. (400).

Mix and sift once, then sift into a bowl, the flour, Magic Baking Powder, salt and sugar; mix in bran.

Combine well-beaten egg, milk, vanilla and melted butter or margarine.

Make a well in the flour mixture and add liquids; combine lightly.

Two-thirds fill prepared muffin pans with batter.

Bake in preheated oven about 20 minutes.

Yield: 10 muffins.

Manitoba Game Area To Protect Beach Site

WINNIPEG. — A new small game preserve surrounding the village of Delta at the southern tip of Lake Manitoba has been established, Resources Minister J. S. McDiarmid announced.

The new preserve, only 3½ square miles in area, has been established for the dual purpose of public safety in the vicinity of Delta beach and to provide "much needed protection," for tame waterfowl entering and leaving the area of the Delta waterfowl research station, he said.

EIGHT HOURS TO ERECT

British Factory-Built Houses May Be Erected In The West

LONDON. — A British factory-built three-bedroom house designed for the Canadian market was erected on a site at Lincoln in eight hours and 10 minutes recently. R. A. McMullen, agent-general for Alberta, one of several Canadian officials in attendance, said that the home was "ideally suited to the needs of rapidly expanding communities in Alberta and Western Canada."

The house, of timber construction, has glass fibre insulation and special storm-shield window fittings designed for the Canadian climate.

The cost of the house laid down in this year.

Farmers Using Scaring Devices To Foil Ducks

REGINA. — Several farmers in the Kindersley area of Saskatchewan have come up with new ideas in scaring devices to keep ducks from damaging their swathed grain. Canadian wildlife service biologists of the federal department of resources and development working in this area report that some of these ideas appear to have merit and farmers themselves feel that they have been effective under conditions encountered this year.

One farmer simply strung five or six tin cans on a wire between two posts. In each can he put several pebbles. This device was put in the fields and the action of the wind on the cans caused them to dance about with almost continuous action. The noises of the pebbles bouncing in the tins added to the effectiveness of this creation.

Another innovation used by a farmer near Marengo was a refinement of a scarecrow suggested by federal wildlife biologists. This type scarecrow uses flashing squares of tin or aluminum suspended by wire and swivels from crossed two by four lumber for its effect. This device was found to be too heavy and the swivels wore out too quickly in too continuous winds. Improving with material he had on hand, this farmer reduced the weight by using two inch lumber and suspended pieces of sheet roofing, eight inches square, from each arm of the crossed wood with three loops of heavy wire. These wire loops provided almost the same action as swivels and were almost indestructible. So that the crossed arms could be lowered for easy carrying from field to field he made them in two pieces and bolted them to the stake.

Using this device in fields that had suffered heavily from feeding ducks last year, this farmer has to date suffered no appreciable damage. He said that the flashes from the turning pieces of sheet roofing could be easily seen by moonlight.

Canada would be roughly $4,100. Erected and fitted, the cost would be about $7,000.

Mr. McMullen said that he would recommend it to oil companies or petro-chemical concerns expanding in the province and needing housing for employees.

He suggested that B.C. with developments in the interior, and Saskatchewan might also find it suitable for housing in areas where an influx of population was expected.

Although Britain itself is short of housing, the factory-built home is designed for export only as an attraction for dollar markets. It will not take materials away from domestic housing projects.

The design of the home put up in the demonstration is one of 28 specially-prepared for Canada. The units can be created here and shipped abroad for rapid assembly.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange

Combining Unripe Crops

Ideal harvesting weather prevailed for a time in August with the harvesting of this present splendid crop. Unfortunately, towards the end of August, rains occurred and have been falling intermittently in most areas ever since. Farmers, fearful of a recurrence of last year, when snow stopped all harvesting until the following spring, have been, it seems, over-anxious to cut their grain. The consequence is that much grain has been combined slightly on the green side and although dry was not fully mature. After awhile this immature grain, it is found, starts to heat, both in elevator bins and in farmers' granaries on the farm. The condition will get worse with such binned grain as time goes on. It is important, therefore, that grain shall not be combined until it is dead ripe. Crops apparently cannot be cut with the combine on the green side as they used to be with the binder without risk of subsequent heating. To cut with the combine before the grain is dead ripe, then, is to invite trouble and serious loss to farmers. The situation is even worse when grain is cut on the green side and when it is tough.

The big diesel engine of the CNR on a trial run from Port Arthur to Edmonton passed through Irma on Tuesday evening. This mechanized giant was pulling 133 cars with a load totalling over 6000 tons. It made a noise such as you'd expect from a "flying saucer" and had a horn that sounded like the "crack of doom." Most of us thought the Men of Mars were descending upon us. Our CNR agent, Mr. E. H. Targett, tells us it may not be back this way for 6 or 8 months. That should give our shattered nerves a chance to recover.

Mr. Bryan Targett of Calgary is expected home this week-end.

No doubt the best news this week is the glorious harvest weather. The wonderful way the frost has held off should insure a good grade for most folk. But apart from the crop and all our busy days, let's take a moment to look at our lovely country as it lies under the September sun with "every bush aflame for God."

Born to the Rev. L. Thurston and Mrs. Thurston of Ashmont on Sat., September 6, a son, Kenneth Gordon.
